Barnes Aerospace, Singapore Division Participates in Aviation Open House 2019

In mid-August, the Barnes Aerospace, Singapore Division (BA-Singapore) participated in the Aviation Open House (AOH) for the first time. This biennial event is organized by the Civil Aviation Authority of Singapore (CAAS) and was held at the Suntec City Convention Centre in Singapore. The theme for AOH 2019 was "Harnessing Innovation, Unlocking Possibilities."

The Aviation Open House is CAAS' flagship aviation career and education fair that aims to profile career opportunities in the aviation industry as well as to mobilize the aviation community to reach out to youth, students, and job seekers.

The Barnes Aerospace, Singapore Division used this outreach opportunity to promote a greater understanding among members of the public – particularly youth – of the range and depth of Barnes Group's operations and business activities, as well as its career opportunities. Visitors had a chance to interact with our representatives who shared their career experiences and provided practical advice to students and job seekers who are considering embarking on a career or education in aviation.

Events like the AOH support Barnes Group's continued focus on attracting and developing the next generation of workforce as part of our talent strategy. A big thank you to the team members who participated in the event!
